Buyer's Choice awards are based entirely on vetted customer reviews, some of which include:

- "This has been a game changer for our nonprofit organization. It is simple, it works well, and it empowers our people to be in control of their reporting properly. We spend enough that we typically don't pay anything for the service."
- "I use Expensify to submit all my expenses for work and it's super easy to use! It's very intuitive, the UI is clean, and it very clearly states when an expense is pending/submitted vs approved/denied. It's also very easy to categorize each expense."
- "I've used Expensify at four companies since 2009, and it's consistently excellent. As a frequent traveler, I email receipts straight from airlines and hotels—no more paper clutter or lost slips. It's fast, accurate, and stress-free."

To qualify, each product must have gained at least 10 reviews between January 1, 2025, and October 17, 2025, to ensure recent and relevant customer feedback to help inform a buyer's decision.

During the evaluation process, reviewers are asked if products and their support teams live up to expectations and if they would buy the product again. Reviewers' answers determine the other qualifying factor: if a product is rated best in capabilities, value for price, and customer relationship.
