

Expensify Targets Global Self-Employed Market With New Expense Tracking Features

April 30, 2024

New Expensify uses enterprise-grade receipt scanning and distance tracking to capture emerging SMBs at their earliest stages and provide an upgrade path for future growth.

PORTLAND, Ore.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Apr. 30, 2024-- Expensify, Inc. (Nasdaq: EXFY), the financial management superapp for expenses and corporate cards, today announced that expense tracking for self-employed professionals is now available in its next-gen New Expensify platform. The upgrade makes it easier than ever for self-employed professionals to track all types of business spend – as receipts, mileage, or manual amounts – in one place. They can then categorize the expenses and share them with their accountant for tax purposes, all in the same app.

"A huge portion of the workforce in the US, and an even larger percentage globally, don't have access to a super simplified expense tracking solution. For freelancers, independent contractors, and small business owners specifically, managing expenses can be a time-consuming and daunting task," said David Barrett, CEO of Expensify. "With New Expensify, we've reimagined expense tracking to be simpler, snappier, and more powerful than ever before. Our goal is to empower members to take control of their finances with ease."

For those navigating tax season, New Expensify offers invaluable assistance in organizing and coding expenses for maximum deductions. Members can also ensure a smooth and hassle-free tax prep process by inviting their accountants to collaborate directly within the app. Plus, members can chat with teammates, customers, clients, vendors, suppliers, and friends in the same place with the ability to respond from where they're at (whether email, text, or chat).
